

Maximus Information Security delivers recruitment solutions for clients with information security requirements within the UK and globally.

Maximus Information Security is experienced at identifying candidates with specialist knowledge for all areas of information security management, risk assessment and regulatory compliance.

Over the years Maximus has improved its efficiencies and internal processes, so that clients and candidates can benefit from better service experiences. This is especially important for those assignments within sensitive environments or where threat assessments are specific.

Because we understand the intrinsic nature of the digital security market, we can short list the best candidate offerings during contingency recruitment and executive search assignments. We offer discrete, diligent and practicable services.
